The American Southwest, roughly the US-Mexico border area from Texas to California, is a political, economic, and cultural crossroads. We will investigate interactions between Native Americans and Spanish colonists beginning in the sixteenth century, emerging US economic and political control during the nineteenth century, the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, land dispossession, the Mexican Revolution, immigration, civil rights, and twentieth century demography. We will also discuss the borderlands as a literary and symbolic concept.

Note: This course counts toward the GSFS major.

Class Participation:
Regular attendance and thoughtful, prepared, courteous participation in classroom discussion are required features of the class. Due to the small size of the class and because it meets only once a week, attendance and preparation are very important. Attendance (and absences) will be considered in determining your final grade.

Written Assignments:
The main written assignment for the course will be a 15-page research paper due at the end of the semester on some aspect of the history of the US-Mexico Borderlands. Students will complete additional shorter written assignments that can be incorporated into the final paper. Papers must have reasonable fonts, double-spacing, and 1 inch margins. Please attempt to stay within the assigned page limits. Late papers will be penalized 2 points for every 24 hour period the papers are late. Papers more than ten days late will not be accepted. Students must complete all written assignments in order to receive credit for the course.

Presentations
Students will also be required to present periodic formal and informal in-class presentations during the semester, including a final, 10-minute presentation, with Blackboard slides, drawn from the research project and the final paper.
Leading Class Discussion
Each student, as a member of a two-person team, will also be responsible for leading class discussion on one of the assigned books. On weeks when students are not co-leading discussion, they will be required to send one question for class discussion to the entire class and instructor by 8am on the day of the class (Tuesday).

Honor Code
All work in this class is governed by the Honor Code of Oberlin College. The honor code is available at: http://new.oberlin.edu/students/policies/2011-2012/11-Policies-Honor.pdf. If you have questions about how the code applies to any assignment or work done for the class, please feel free to consult the instructor.
