Office hours: Tu and Th 2:30-4:00 by self sign-up, sheets on my door weekly. Other times by email appointment.
COURSE DESCRIPTION: This course explores historical realities of women and men in Jewish society by foregrounding gender and sexuality in Jewish experience.

We study women’s history and the construction and workings of gendered behavior, sexuality, maleness, and femaleness in Jewish societies from antiquity to the twentieth century in cultural (Sephardic, Ashkenazic, Middle Eastern), and chronological context.

We explore biblical and rabbinic texts whose legacy continues to this day; compare normative constructions of women’s and men’s societal and sexual roles in law and custom with social realities; study gender and power relations in family and society; women, men, and religion; women’s economic and communal functions, literacy, feminism.

We will ask: how did gender shape Jewish historical experience? What was Jewish women’s historical experience, and how and why did this differ from or coincide with that of men? How is Jewish history conceptualized differently when women’s experience is included and when the workings of gender are explored in the historical experience of men?

SKILLS GOALS: Students will learn how to approach as historians such varied primary and secondary sources as medieval communal ordinances, prenuptial and divorce documents; women’s letters, memoirs, and rituals; biography; memoir; sociological and anthropological studies; contemporary feminist writing and writing about hetero- and homosexual Jews and Judaism. You will gain experience in discussion; in making targeted, coherent oral presentations; and in writing substantively and cogently.

Successful completion of this course gives JWST, HIST, GWST, CD, and Wr credit.

REQUIREMENTS. Basics here, see details on separate, Guides to the Course document

1. Attendance: will be noted and count in the final grade.

PLEASE NOTE that there are three missed class sessions at the beginning of the semester, noted on the syllabus, and two REQUIRED makeup class sessions.

2. Thoughtful preparation of assigned readings. There are about 60 pages of reading (not including notes, illustrations), per class.
All assigned reading is on Mudd shelf reserve; it is not realistic to rely on this routinely. You are expected to have your own copies of titles on the Required for Purchase list, below, ordered in the Bookstore. Material not in these titles is available electronically on the course bb site. Direct questions/ issues about shelf or electronic sources to the Reserve Room supervisor, Michael.palazzolo@oberlin.edu; I can only email him so go straight to the source; same for Bookstore, but do cc me about any such issues and see me for any problems your efforts do not resolve.

Should class be cancelled for any reason (e.g., weather), prepare the cancelled session’s reading and that for the following class for its date: stay current with the syllabus.

REQUIRED FOR PURCHASE:

Steven Greenberg, Wrestling with God and Men: Homosexuality in the Jewish Tradition
Rachel Biale, Women in Jewish Law
Avraham Grossman, Pious and Rebellious, Jewish Women in Medieval Europe
The Memoirs of Gluckel of Hameln, Translated by Marvin Lowenthal
Marion Kaplan, The Making of the Jewish Middle Class
Susan Sered, Women as Ritual Experts

Please bring readings on the Required for Purchase list to class.

While not required for purchase, please bring a Hebrew Bible to class when assigned readings reference biblical sources. I recommend the JPS paperback edition, Tanakh.

3. Active, informed participation in class.

4. One-page observation/ analysis papers (OPs) on assigned readings.

5. 1-2 short (7-10 minute, enforced) lead-off presentations.

6. One in-class essay/ terms assignment; one short (5 page) essay/ ID assignment; final, 10-12 page research paper.

Rachel Biale, Women and Jewish Law, chps.1-2, pp.10-69

* As the title of this book states, the subject is law. The author does a great job of clarifying things but be patient with the type of discourse and with yourself if this is new to you (though having read Greenberg should help). Bring any questions or needed clarifications to class; get the gist of the reading; focus on what you get, as well as anything you don’t. There will be no lead off today (unless someone really wants this one); I will present a fair amount. Do OPs as usual.

9. Rabbinic Law, continued: Marriage, Divorce  10/3

Lead off:

Biale, chps.3-4, pp.70-120

Google the term “agunah”; look up JOFA—the Jewish Orthodox Feminist Alliance-- on line and note their material on “agunah.”

10. Law, continued: Sex, Marriage, “Family Purity”  10/8

Lead off:

Biale, chps.5-6, pp. 121-174

11. IN CLASS ESSAY/ ID Assignment 10/10

12. Women and Rabbinic Law: Women’s Experience and Agency 10/15
