Lecture: “What Makes Weill Weill?”
CONSERVATORY, BIBBINS 223 (77 W. COLLEGE STREET)
A few months before he died mid-career in New York at age 50, Kurt Weill appeared on the intermission feature “Opera News on the Air” during a radio broadcast from the MET of Puccini’s Manon Lescaut. After discussing with him what made Puccini Puccini, host Boris Goldovsky asked Weill the same question. Weill answered the anything but trivial question suggestively rather than concretely, and it has remained the foremost critical issue in Weill studies for the last half century. European and American, German and Jewish, serious and popular, Weill challenged the very notion of a unitary stylistic and biographical identity expected of a “genuine” composer. Modernist aesthetic agendas and critical constructs couldn’t cope with the dichotomies and ambiguities of Weill’s output; there had to have been two Weills. For the author of the Weill entry in the New Groves Dictionary of Music and Musicians in 1980, this rendered the composer “one of music’s great might-have-beens." Today’s talk will attempt to follow up Weill’s answer on the radio by investigating how the Weill of Street Scene might well be recognized as the same composer who wrote The Threepenny Opera.
Presented by Kim Kowalke, president of the Kurt Weill Foundation for music and author of Kurt Weill in Europe.

12:30–7:00 p.m.

Oberlin Opera Theater presents Street Scene
HALL AUDITORIUM (67 N. MAIN STREET)
The opera takes place on the doorstep of a tenement on the East Side of Manhattan on two brutally hot days in 1946. The story focuses on two plotlines; the romance between Rose Maurrant and her neighbor Sam Kaplan; and on the extramarital affair of Rose’s mother, Anna, which is eventually discovered by Rose’s irritable father, Frank. The show portrays the ordinary romances, squabbles, and gossips of the neighbors, as the mounting tensions involving the Maurrant family eventually build into a tragedy of epic proportions. This Kurt Weill opera is funded in part by the Kurt Weill Foundation for Music, Inc., New York, N.Y. $8 students, $10 parents. All tickets are $3 more at the door.

Faculty Presentation: Restarting the International Criminal Court

WILDER HALL, ROOM 112 (135 W. LORAIN STREET)

The International Criminal Court is a new, largely unprecedented and troubled international court intended to bring to justice perpetrators of humanity’s worst crimes. Its first 12 years have been troubled, and it is now caught between a case it may not be able to carry out—against Kenya’s president—and a likely request that it extend jurisdiction to the Palestine territories, threatening to make it an even higher-profile political target. What’s next for the Court? Politics Professor Ben Schiff has been studying the ICC since it began operating and is author of Building the International Criminal Court (Cambridge University Press, 2008).

MEET AT THE FLAGPOLES IN THE SOUTHEAST CORNER OF TAPPAN SQUARE, AT THE INTERSECTION OF MAIN (RT. 58) AND COLLEGE STREETS.

In 1834, John J. Shipherd pledged Oberlin’s commitment to “the elevation of female character” through education. Little did he know, there was dynamite in that promise, and women carried the matches. This illustrated walking tour explores how Oberlin confronted and defined issues of femininity in the 19th and 20th centuries. Hear stories of powerful Oberlin women including Lucy Stone, Marianne Parker Dascomb, Adelia Field Johnston, Mary Church Terrell, and Lucy Stanton Day, and learn how they used John J. Shipherd’s promise to shape what it meant to be a woman in Oberlin and in the United States.

Limit: 20 people, online pre-registration encouraged: www.oberlinheritagecenter.org. In case of rain, the tour will be cancelled. $6 adults, free for college students and children.

1:00–4:00 p.m. Karuta Seminar

CARNEGIE BUILDING, ROOT ROOM (52 W. LORAIN STREET)

Oberlin College and University of Michigan students meet up for a karuta seminar. Karuta is one of Japan's oldest and most influential games, using poetry as a competitive medium. Part one of a two-day seminar hosted by the Oberlin College East Asian Game Club and the University of Michigan Kyougi Karuta Club, this event aims to introduce Karuta to students on both campuses—in Oberlin on November 8 and in Michigan on November 9. Led by guest of honor Mutusumi Stone, we will learn about the history of the game, how it is played, and much more. This seminar is open to all, regardless of knowledge of the game or of Japanese. The Japan Foundation of New York sponsors this event.

1:00 p.m.
Lecture: The Life, Music, and Legacy of Milt Hinton
KOHIL BUILDING, CLONICK RECITAL HALL

SCIENCE CENTER, ROOM A 154 (119 WOODLAND STREET)
Neuroscience professors Leslie Kwayke, Jan Thornton, and Siobhan Robinson briefly describe and answer questions about how the brain develops and how hormones, stressors, natural rewards and drugs of abuse influence it.

1:30 p.m.
Discussion: The Future of Higher Education
SCIENCE CENTER LECTURE HALL
Higher education, along with most of the world’s industries, has been dramatically redefined by technology. The price tag of a college education is growing while the tangible benefits are coming under increasing scrutiny. Listen to Oberlin parent Gary Bolles, serial entrepreneur and longtime Silicon Valley observer, discuss the unbundling of higher education and the effects it will have on graduate employment. Bolles, together with his father, Richard Bolles, author of What Color is Your Parachute?, started eParachute, an online business based on the book. We also encourage you to attend the “Life After Oberlin” panel at 3 p.m. in the Austin E. Knowlton Athletics Complex Alumni Clubhouse.

1:30 p.m.

Presentation: “Fellowships and Awards: What It Takes to Become a Competitive Applicant”

WILDER HALL, ROOM 101 (135 W. LORAIN STREET)

Students at Oberlin, strong academically and active in service and leadership activities, are very competitive for a variety of national awards. Awards are available to sophomores, juniors, and seniors, but all require more lead-time than our students expect. This session is designed to help both parents and students learn which fellowships might be a good fit and provide a tentative timeline for preparing and applying for them. Presenter: Nick Petzak, fellowships advisor

3:00 p.m.

Risks and Rewards: Alcohol and Other Drugs and the Young Adult Brain

WILDER, ROOM 101 (135 W. LORAIN STREET)

Sunday Morning Meditation and Worship
VARIOUS LOCATIONS
Religious communities in Oberlin welcome students and families for worship or meditation. For a complete listing, please see www.oberlin.edu/orsl/localworship.

11:00 a.m.
Tour: One Step More Women’s History Walk
MEET AT THE FLAGPOLES IN THE SOUTHEAST CORNER OF TAPPAN SQUARE, AT THE INTERSECTION OF MAIN (RT. 58) AND COLLEGE STREETS.
In 1834, John J. Shipherd pledged Oberlin’s commitment to “the elevation of female character” through education. Little did he know, there was dynamite in that promise, and women carried the matches. This illustrated walking tour explores how Oberlin confronted and defined issues of femininity in the 19th and 20th centuries. Hear stories of powerful Oberlin women including Lucy Stone, Marianne Parker Dascomb, Adelia Field Johnston, Mary Church Terrell, and Lucy Stanton Day, and learn how they used John J. Shipherd’s promise to shape what it meant to be a woman in Oberlin and in the United States. Limit: 20 people, online pre-registration encouraged: www.oberlinheritagecenter.org. In case of rain, the tour will be cancelled. $6 adults, free for college students and children.

2:00 p.m.
Sunday Object Talk at the Allen Memorial Art Museum
MEET INSIDE THE FRONT DOORS OF THE MUSEUM (87 N. MAIN STREET)
Specifically oriented toward the casual visitor to the AMAM, these talks are an opportunity to learn about new objects or revisit old “friends” from the collection. Each talk, conducted by a student docent, focuses on one work in the collection or on view in a current exhibition and lasts approximately 15 minutes plus questions.

2:00 p.m.
Oberlin Opera Theater presents Street Scene
HALL AUDITORIUM (67 N. MAIN STREET)
The opera takes place on the doorstep of a tenement on the East Side of Manhattan on two brutally hot days in 1946. The story focuses on two plotlines; the romance between Rose Maurrant and her neighbor Sam Kaplan; and on the extramarital affair of Rose’s mother, Anna, which is eventually discovered by Rose’s irritable father, Frank. The show portrays the ordinary romances, squabbles, and gossips of the neighbors, as the mounting tensions involving the Maurrant family eventually build into a tragedy of epic proportions. This Kurt Weill opera is funded in part by the Kurt Weill Foundation for Music, Inc., New York, N.Y.

$8 students, $10 parents. All tickets are $3 more at the door.

3:00 p.m.

Hymn Festival and Historical Marker Dedication

FIRST CHURCH, CORNER OF MAIN (ST. RT. 58) AND LORAIN (ST. RT. 511)

Join community members, visitors, religious leaders, and dignitaries for a stirring hour-long “sing” of historic hymns, followed by the dedication of the newest Ohio Historical Marker in Oberlin, recognizing First Church, United Church of Christ, built in the 1840s, and Antoinette Brown Blackwell (1825-1921), an Oberlin College graduate who became the first woman ordained as a minister in the nation (1853). Co-sponsored by the Oberlin Heritage Center and First Church in Oberlin, U.C.C.

5:00 p.m.

Catholic Mass

BOSWORTH HALL, FAIRCHILD CHAPEL (50 W. LORAIN STREET)

Join the Newman Catholic Community for mass. All students and families are welcome.
